Federal election law requires political committees to use best efforts to collect and report the name, mailing address, occupation, and name of employer of individuals whose contributions exceed $200 during an election cycle. An individual may not contribute more than a total of $5100 per election cycle to the committee. Federal law prohibits contributions to the committee from the general treasury funds of a corporation, labor organizations or national banks (including corporate or other business entity credit cards), from any person contributing another's funds, from a federal government contractor, or from a foreign national who lacks permanent resident status. Contributions are not deductible for federal income tax purposes.
